

This is an exciting time for Midway. Our small community is embarking on a journey that will, for the first time, give landowners a choice!

Midway Landowners, you should have all received an invitation to attend an informative meeting at 6:00 PM, Thursday, March 21st in Town Hall regarding the process of being paid for the development rights on your land. If for some crazy reason you didn't, consider yourself invited!

We know there are a lot of questions like:

Who do I contact if I'm interested in selling my development rights? How exactly is the bond money used? How large does your parcel need to be to qualify? Where does it need to be located? How long does this process take? What are development rights? What are you left with if you sell your development rights? Are there tax benefits? What are Midway City's obligations? What is a land conservation group and how can they help? Is the County Bond and the Midway Bond the same thing?

With the help of experts, we will answer these questions and many others. Yes, this is a new journey for us, but it's a well-worn path for those that have been helping landowners and their communities for over 20 years.

We look forward to seeing you at Town Hall as we take the first steps together!
