Good Morning Water users

This is for those living in Lime Canyon and Swiss Alpine east of Tanner Lane. We are still working on repairing the Snake Creek well. If you didn't see the last communication, the Snake Creek Well provides a little over a third of the water feeding your system. Yesterday, a repair service started the removal of the well pump and motor. That will be completed today. They will then take the motor to their shop in salt lake to evaluate the problem. We are looking for new parts for the well but have not found any yet. However, after the evaluation today, we should have a better idea how long this will take. We are pushing to get everything running as soon as possible.

In the meantime, the Homestead golf course and Lundins have agreed to cut back or extend hours with lower use per hour which should leave the system operational however, it will take some cooperation with all users, especially larger ag irrigators, to make it work. I don't have everyone on the list so please talk to your neighbors about the problem and ask them to cut back as well. Ag users should restrict use to half of normal heads at any time. Ie, if you normally use 10 heads at a time, please cut back to half of that and run the others on the next cycle or run half the time and rotate. Again, we all need to help. We'll keep everyone informed.

If you have someone who wants to be on this water user list, please forward me their name and email address.

Thanks

Mike and Tom
